

ER-6008

C
C
P
Y

General Delivery
Main Post Office
San Diego, California

11-14-47

Rear Admiral R. H. Hillenkoetter
Central Intelligence Authority
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:-

<sup>name</sup>
I obtained your/as shown.

I am 61 and more than a year ago I found that a son, 20, had become imbued with a strong leaning towards Stalin and the Communists from two years at a local college, a unit of California school system.

My material, especially that marked ( ) I've sent to many powerful and/or wealthy men - to alert them, to the extremely dangerous Russian menace - and I'd say I've had little success.

Of course, you're so conversant with all this that I don't surprise you that I say the name signed to this is not mine. The Post Office said I could use a "pen name". I do this to avoid possible reprisal - in case the material would fall in to the wrong.

This material is too lengthy - but prefer that your office keep same.

I notice that the Oct. Cosmopolitan magazine has an article about the Russians by Eugene Lyons.

It is reported by the parents of young San Diegans working on Army projects in Alaska this summer that the private contractors doing the work do not care if it takes 4 min. or 4 hrs. to do a piece of work. All they are interested in is to have the cost high - so their percentage is high - the cost-plus idea that was found bad in World War I. Looks like the U.S. never learns - except by the "hard way".

Sincerely

/s/ GEORGE H. HENCOCK

NEWCOMB, George H.

Ltr acknowledged by Deputy Director.
Orig ltr fr Newcomb to CR for file
(w/incls).